HAPPY MOMMY'S DAY

Happy to those who call their mothers
on Happy Mommy's Day.
We don't really care for others
to try and take their place.

But when you are without your Rainbow,
And Mommy whispers from afar,
You find yourself a-longing for her - your Rainbow in the dark.

She may not be gone forever
And another one is around...
But I thought Mommies last forever...
Now Mommies can't be found.

So, here's to all the lonely mothers,
and all the faithful sons away.
May your every wish of rainbows
come true on Mommies Day!

BY: STEVEN PETRILLO
@May 7, 1982